NEED SHIPS, NOT PLANES AND SUBS NAVY BOARD SAYS

Without Them, U. S. Can't Cope With Existing Navies.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The major ship remains the basis of sea power, and those who argue that the airplane and the submarine have supplanted it are asking the country "to accept hope for accomplishment," the navy general board says in a report to Secretary Daniels, made public today.

The general board having kept in touch with naval progress along all lines," says the report, reiterates its belief in the battleships as forming the principal unit of the fleet. Without them the United States cannot hope to cope with existing navies.

Urging that "equality in power be the continuing naval policy of the United States," the board says there is no thought of instituting "international competitive building" and "no other nation can in reason tax exception to such a position."

"It cannot justly be construed as a challenge," the report continues, "A policy of equal or substantially equal armament may well tend to diminish their growth and to lessen the danger of sudden war."

The report signed by Rear Admiral John Badger, president and former commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet, was approved by Secretary Daniels and was transmitted by him to the senate naval committee for its information considering pending disarmament and "naval holiday" resolutions.

Against Stopping Work.

Asserting that the guiding policy that had shaped the general board construction recommendations since 1903 and eventually creating a navy equal to the strongest in the world, the board urges that no rest period or limitation or armaments be agreed to by the United States, that would modify the great naval building program of 1916, "in numbers, general types or dates of completion."

"In the future as at all times previous to the world war, we shall in all probability have to rely solely upon our own state of preparedness," was a note of warning in the document sounded.

Cessation of naval building by Great Britain is attributed by the general board to the great preponderance in her navy of all types of ships and to the present situation in that empire.

JURORS DISMISSED DISTRICT COURT RESTS

AE jurors were dismissed for the term at the Wednesday afternoon session of the district court. Only a few unimportant cases remained on the docket and they were not considered of sufficient importance to justify holding the jurors the remaining three days of the term to try them.

Court adjourned to 9 a. m. Saturday, at which time sentence will be imposed on those who have been convicted of crime during the term.

CAN'T PUT BLOTCH ON ARMY, GENERAL TELLS COMMITTEE

"What the Hell Did We Fight For," He Shouts
at Investigators.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Turning sharply upon our war investigation committee as a whole, Charles G. Dawes, former head of war supply procurement service, told them today that the value of their wood had been rendered useless through injection of partisan politics.

"I bitterly resent this effort to reflect upon the entire army, because some poor devil blundered in Switzerland," he shouted. "You cannot put a blotch on the army. What the hell did we go in for?—to steal money? It was not a republican or a democrat war; it was an American war and yet as a rule these committees try to bring in partisan politics.

"They can put in their time to much better advantage right here and save disgraceful government waste. You could save more money for the people. But, as to France, you haven't got enough evidence to make a case, if one existed and I don't believe it does."

When asked about grafters who followed the American army to France, Dawes said:

"Yes, they were there, some of the most despicable characters on earth trying to help the army by selling things to it at exorbitant figures. There was one man we caught and deported. What's his name? What's the use? I am not a muck raker. He was a traitor and I wish we could have shot him."

General Dawes praised the men in the army, saying it was the fashion nowadays to condemn them.

There were many women at the hearing, but it didn't phase the general, who swore constantly.

"Considering everything," he declared, "the record of accomplishment of the war department in getting ready for war was a greater accomplishment than that of France and Great Britain in the same period of time. I don't believe you can pick flaws there and I am not speaking as a democrat."

"Long time after this committee is dead and gone the achievements of the American army will stand as an everlasting blaze of glory. You have tried to make a mountain out of a mole hill, but thank God the army was American, not republican or democratic."

TO ASK NATIONS TO TALK DISARMAMENT

ARDMORE, Feb. 3.—The gross value of the estate of the late Jake L. Hamon in Oklahoma is $3,143,903.50 and the total indebtedness chargeable against the estate in Oklahoma is $1,750,579, according to reports today by J. B. Moore, who was appointed by the state to make an appraisement of the Hamon property for the purpose of forming a basis for the collection of state inheritance taxes.

The state expense of the administration including attorney fees, court costs and the fees of administration is $194,000. This leaves net taxable estate of $1,200,000. The report will be filed with the state auditor, with the attorney general and with Judge Winfrey of the Carter county court and when it is approved the beneficiaries will owe to the state an inheritance tax of $42,400.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 3.—An investigation of recent reductions in the price of crude oil and of all pipe line companies in the state, is requested, in a resolution introduced in the lower house of the legislature today by Representative Admire, republican of Creek county.

The resolution charges that pipe line companies are accepting only fifty percent of the crude oil and charging exorbitant prices for storage, entailing great loss to the state, as well as to the producers. The resolution also urges an investigation of all tank storage facilities and authorizes subpoena of witnesses.

Representative Admire charged in his resolution that since January 24, the state has lost in gross production tax on oil $1,541,000. He also charged that the Prairie Oil and Gas company and the Standard Oil company had a million gallons of tank space in the state in which there is not a gallon of oil. He asked suspension of the rules for immediate discussion of the resolution, but this was objected to by representative Craver, who said the proposed investigation was too wide in its scope for the house to consider at this time.

The debate on the chiropractor bill yesterday was perhaps the hottest this session in the house, charges of improper influence being used in its interest being made by two members of the house, Edwin Dabney, democratic floor leader, moved following adoption of the bill in committee as a whole, that a special committee be appointed to investigate charges, adding that members of the house had told him in private that they had been offered money to aid in passing the bill.

From Gay City to Mother's Arms Tossed By Fate, Little Girl Sent Home By Red Cross

Home again and safe in mother's arms, comes a happy message to Red Cross headquarters here from Lucille Pride, 15 year old girl at Phoenix, Arizona. Lucille was sent back to the home of her babyhood days by the home service secretary of Pontotoc County Chapter, American Red Cross. A little pink letter dated at Phoenix tells of the gladness in the little girl's heart.

Lucille's story is one of heart throbs and tender emotions. During the short span of her childhood, she has tasted of both the sweets and bitters of life. Taken from a life of poverty, she revelled in the lap of luxury when her mother gave her up to another woman who adopted her as her own. But as the years rolled on, her heart hardened and cried more and more for the mother who had breathed life into the clay.

Lucille had been living with her parents at Houston, Texas. She had come to Ada to visit some relatives of her foster father. When the time came to say goodbye to Ada, terror filled her heart. She wanted to go back to the simple home of her birth. The glamour and lustre of the gilded way have faded. It was a City of Sights and Tears. Her new mother tried to give her everything her little heart could desire. But her heart yearned for the thing money can't buy.

A message was flashed across the wires to the Red Cross at Houston, and another to the Red Cross at Phoenix. The details leading to the girl's return to her home at Phoenix may result in complications leading to a legal battle between the two mothers, but the wonderful efficiency of the Red Cross organization is demonstrated in the moves made from the moment the little girl timidly entered headquarters here.

George LaMotte, one of the victims was robbed of diamonds valued at $2,000, he told the police.

A third suspect is being sought by the authorities.

sent back to the mother whose arms had held her and fondled her in babyhood.

That was the story she told as the Red Cross secretary sat and held her little hand. Her foster mother has since married again, she added, this time to a Dr. Kay.

"But I have been so unhappy," she said, "I am afraid to go back."

Both Want Child.

In a little while answer came from the Houston and Phoenix chapters. The mother at Phoenix longed to have her baby back. She was now in a position to care for her, and would be so glad if the Red Cross would send her back.

From Houston came word of Mrs. Kay. She, too, wanted Lucille.

She wired money and a ticket. But the girl refused to accept either.

And so Lucille was sent back to Phoenix. A letter to the conductors along the way assured her protection, and a watchful Red Cross worker in answer to a wire from Ada, was at Fort Worth to meet her and care for her until the train for El Paso left that afternoon. Again at El Paso she was met and cared for by another Red Cross worker who had been telephoned from here. A wire to Phoenix told what train she was coming on, and a Red Cross worker was there to take her safely to her mother.

ARSON SUSPECT IS NABBED FOR BURNING HOTEL

Man Wanted for Causing Blaze and Murder, Taken at Shreveport, La.

By the Associated Press

SHREVEPORT, La.—Charged with murder and arson in connection with the burning of the Royal hotel and cafe at England, Ark., Jan. 7, when seven persons lost their lives and several others were seriously burned, C. H. Smith was arrested at Hosston, La., near Shreveport, this afternoon in instruction from the sheriff at England, Ark.

When the officers arrived at the home of one of Smith's relatives at Hosston, they were told he was not there, but had gone to Little Rock. Regarding this statement the officers rushed into the house where they found Smith and placed him under arrest. When searched a gun was found in his pocket.

On the person of the man were found many newspaper clipping relating to the fire at England. When asked if he would go back to Arkansas without requisition papers, he avoided the question as he has not yet, according to the officers, agreed to accompany them without the formality of a requisition.

Smith was placed in the parish jail to await the arrival of the Arkansas officers who were notified by wire of his arrest.

CONSIDER THYSELF: Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such a one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted.—Galatians 6:1.

LEARNING IN RUSSIA.

There is nothing surprising but much significant in the fact that Russian savants have been forced to appeal to their fellows in other parts of the world for books, funds and laboratory materials. Bolshevism does not care particularly for science, art and letters, and these are perishing in Russia.

Bolshevism has brought to a condition of acute want men like Borodin, Belopolsky, Tagantzev, Oldenburg, Bechterevo, and Latishev—the greatest scientific and literary minds of the country. We have seen relief ships rushed to famine regions in far lands, populations made shelterless by flood or fire have been ministered to, polar expeditions have been rescued, but never before has high culture been forced to make an appeal from the midst of its want in a capital which but a few years ago represented the wealth and learning of a great empire.

These Russian thinkers are like castaways on a desert island. They do not know what is going on in the world of learning. Advances have been made, books have been published, of which they know nothing. Some of them are Nobel prize men. All were laboring to better the world, and particularly the big section of the world that was Russia. But the revolution came, bolshevism emerged, and at once Russia went back centuries in the relation of science to the good of the people.

Science will outlast bolshevism, as it will outlast everything impractical everywhere. But it burns with a thin flame in Russia now, and must be aided. And this is a significant commentary on the early claims of bolshevism that it was to rescue and restore Russia.

CHRISTIANITY A GRACE.

A contemporary in South Dakota asks, "What is Christianity?"

Christianity is just what the Bible says it is, and what the Sermon on the Mount indicates. While it excludes drunkenness and all the crimes mentioned in the commandments, it also eradicates grouchiness, selfishness, brutality, coarseness and similar faults. Christianity is a grace that cannot be beaten into a child with a club, injected into a youth with a hypodermic needle, or legislated into a grownup by law. It's a grace that must come from God himself; and no human is great enough to generate it for himself. The best way to inculcate it in others is to set a shining example, rather than trying to force it down their throats.

The Evening News stands first, last and always for those' principles which make for the betterment of humanity, both morally and materially. We believe in our churches. We want to see them expand until they have filled the void which exists between God and man, until they have accomplished the realization of a better brotherhood of man. But we contend that the church and the state cannot be one without disrupting the fundamental principle of our Americanism—freedom! The churches of Ada have more to gain by directing their energies toward leading man into a better mode of living than by attempting to drive him. We believe our ministers realize this, and that is one reason why Ada's churches are popular.

REAL CHARITY.

A Missouri man has left a will establishing a fund for the aid of the poor of his town, Eldorado Springs, Mo., every Christmas. It is especially suggested that the gifts be distributed to unfortunate persons "whether they are worthy or unworthy, according to the standards of society."

Those in a position to give money to fellow beings in misfortune so long have insisted that the poor to be aided must be "worthy;" that it is a great relief to find one man who does not attach the obnoxious string to his act of generosity. The ne'er do well with an empty stomach probably feels just as hungry as the pious persons whose fortunes have fallen.

It has been suggested to congress that a tax be levied on bachelors. Aren't they to be pitied rather than mulcted?

Even an individual who does not have a very good reputation for politeness may be forced to bow to the inevitable.

It might be better for some persons if they insisted that their right hand knows what their left hand is doing.

D'Annunzio has left Fiume with passports for several European countries. Wait until he comes to the United States to visit his good friend, Henry Cabot Lodge!

Moscow characterizes reports of Lenin's death as "fantastic rumors." The exaggeration is a matter of regret.

A woman may be said to have passed the joy period of her life when she begins to worry about her weight.

What Is Efficiency?

What is efficiency? It is doing things, not wishing you could do them, dreaming about them, or wondering if you can do them. It is the power to learn how to do things by doing them, as learning to walk by walking, or learning to sell goods by selling them.

It is knowing how to apply theory to practice. It is the trick of turning defeat into experience and using it to achieve success.

It is the ability to mass one's personality at any given time or place; it is skill in quick mobilization of one's resources.

It is making everything that is past minister to the future.

It is the elimination of the three microbes of weakness—regret, worry, and fear.

It is self-reliance clothed with modesty.

It is persistence plus politeness.

It is the hand of steel in the velvet glove.

It is alertness, presence of mind, readiness to adjust one's self to the unexpected.

It is sacrificing personal feelings to the will to win.

It is impinging the ego against the combination of events—luck, fate, custom, and prejudice—until they give way.

It is massing the me against the universe.

It is the sum of the three quantities—purpose, practice, and patience.

It is the measure of a man, the real size of his soul.

It is the ability to use one's passions, likes, dislikes, habits, experience, education, mind, body and heart—and not to be used by these things.

It is self-mastery, concentration, vision and common sense.

It is the sum total of all that's in a man.

—Dr. Frank Crane, in Farm Life.

MAKE MONEY
ON THE FARM

Borrow From Banks, Then Pay Back All After Sales.

Hats off to the banker who closes the year with a small amount of bad loans to "write off" before the annual meeting of the stockholders! The hard school of experience has taught him to carefully select his picks of loans last year that the ordinary rank and file of men would have passed without a second look. Yes, sir! He loaned $550,000 to 1,000 boys and girls in the 33 northern and western states whose ages averaged 16 years.

"And who were the young borrowers?" you asked, "and why did they need the money?" At every county and state fair you have seen the exhibits of members of Boys' and Girls' Clubs, demonstrating their knowledge through modern, scientific instruction of the better practices in agriculture and home economics. Last year they added to the nation's wealth nearly $5,500,000; but to do that they had to have capital, and that capital was furnished by the banks to buy calves, pigs, sheep, poultry, seed and other things necessary for their individual enterprises.

To your question as to why the parents did not finance the undertakings, there are three answers: First, the skeptical parent who had the money, but was just a little bit uncertain about the youngster's ideas working out. Second, the consequent shortage of money on the farm suffering from scrub-stock or antiquated methods. Third, the parent who wanted his son to develop that manliness which comes with an independent loan. For it was an independent loan—straight out and out without collateral at five and six per cent interest, and every note was met on time, too, in a business-like way. It is a point of interest that there are cases where a bank has given credit to a boy or girl and refused it to the father.

An incident stands out particularly in showing the spirit and earnestness of these young folks. One of the boys purchased a calf on a loan; the animal died, through no fault of his, before the money had been earned to pay off the loss, but he guessed wrong that time. Things did look black for a while, but only a very little while, for his club mates "chipped in" and bought him a new calf; and he justified their faith by becoming a champion in true story book fashion.

A. S. Howes of the American Banking Association says: "Nothing is more closely allied to the future happiness of America and the prosperity of its bankers than increasing scientific production from the farm." And that is exactly what these junior loans are bringing about. Many farmers are taking their sons in as partners, because those sons have proven their ability to do things and to make farming pay big returns. The resultant introduction of purchased stock, better equipment and modern methods means prosperous farmers, which in turn means prosperous bankers.

That is the reason many of them are purchasing purebred animals and selling them at cost to members of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs after a tuberculin test of calves has been made and a hog cholera specialist has immunized the pigs. One bank paid all expenses of an assistant to promote club work and another donated $500 for club pins. The banker knows that there is more than luck in the four-leaved clover with the 4 H's on it—the emblem of Boys' and Girls' Clubs.

HOME
Home's not merely four square walls
Though with pictures hung and gilded;
Home is where affection calls—
Filled with shrines the heart has builded!

Home! Go, watch the faithful dove
None to welcome none to greet
Home is where there's one to love!
Home is where there's one to love us!

Home's not merely roof and room—
It needs something to endear it;
Home is where the heart can bloom
Where there's some kind lip to cheer it.

What is home with none to meet,
None to welcome none to greet us
Home is sweet, and only sweet,
Where there's one who loves to meet us. —Charles Swain

C. E. Voyage

The Helter Skelter Steamship Co. of the Senior Christian Endeavor of the First Presbyterian church made a voyage to the following lands, leaving dock of the Presbyterian Church Saturday evening, Jan. 29, at 6 o'clock, more than fifty strong, arriving at the first port, "Toughland" where they were served tomato bouillon. After a few hours fair sailing the party reached "Isle of Cutup", the home of the "Halite" tribe where they tasted the native food, chicken salad. After a short visit there the party journeyed on to the "Peninsula of Flying Death" where they quenched their thirst at the bubbling springs of fruit punch, the property of the "P. H." tribe. After exploring this land the party sailed to "The Continent of Happiness" where they were served peas and potato salad accompanied by the weird music of the cannibals. After leaving the quiet land the ship encountered the rough waters of Fifteenth and South Johnson straits. Many of the party were overcome with the dreadful disease of sea sickness, but quickly recovered at the next port "Valley of Geese" owing to the kindness of the "Chillymoon" tribe who restored their spirits with the simple remedy, hot cocoa and cake. After a brief rest at this pleasant resort and wishing their hostesses good luck, the party journeyed homeward. *

Fred Chafin of Texas is here for a few days with his brother, R. B. Chafin and family.

Miss Jennie Mae Hensley of Okmulgee arrived in the city this morning to spend the week-end with friends.

Mrs. Alice Braydon and daughter, Lucille, who have been visiting relatives at Holdenville for the past week, returned to their home in this city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hays have been away all winter in search of health, have returned to Ada and will be here for some time visiting friends. Both have benefited by the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Weedman of New Orleans, La., arrived in the city yesterday afternoon for several days visit with Mr. Weedman's mother, Mrs. F. A. Weedman, and sisters, Mesdames J. A. Harden, R. O. Lawrence and Jack Maxey and families. Mr. and Mrs. Weedman have been visiting other relatives in different points in Arkansas previous to their coming to Ada.

American.
You'll all love "Love."
That's the title of the Louise Glaum picture at the American to-day.

It's a J. Parker Read jr. production, different from anything this producer ever did before.

"Love" is a beautiful picture, an appealing production and an ocular gem.

In "Love," the course of true love takes James Kirkwood in the role of Miss Glaum's sweetheart, to South America to find a fortune. True love—for her sister—takes the star into a devious path which will bring ease, joy and surecase from pain in the little sister, but to obtain which Miss Glaum makes a woman's sacrifice.

But the theme of "Love" is staunch and hews to the line.

Remember the line in our poetry book at school? "And stony limits cannot keep love out."

So it is that the love of Natalie (Miss Glaum) and Tom (James Kirkwood) endures despite Natalie's transgression and we have a logical happy ending which caps the dramatic climax of introducing the faithful Tom to his sweetheart as the amorous of another man.

The production deserves the highest praise for its moral toning and the big lesson it holds. The "song of love" in this case is not a sentimental ditty but a very real melody of the soul.

McSwain.
Those who attended the McSwain theater last night were well pleased with the performance of "Lena Pivers," presented by Raynor Lehr's company. The play for tonight is "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." Vaudeville specialties also by real vaudeville performers.

"The World and His Wife" is the picture.

True-to-life "atmosphere" in motion pictures is of prime importance. It adds considerably to the enjoyment of the picture. That was why many men from the southern

NOTHING FOR NOTHING

"I WAS feeling bad this afternoon, and I brought me over some chicken broth," announced the landlady. "I thought it was very kind of her. Such considerate actions convince us that human nature is all right."

"They don't convince me, to any great extent," objected the star boarder. "Nobody ever does a good deed without expecting a reward, Mrs. Jiggers. In highly moral books intended for the young, people do such things, but never in real life. Mrs. Pollywog will be over tomorrow to borrow your fountain pen or your tortoise-shell comb, or perhaps she will come visiting for a few days, and the cost of entertaining her would buy several barrels of chicken broth."

"I hate to have anybody do me a kindness, knowing I'll be expected to return the favor with interest in one way or another. When I was a mere boy my eyes were opened to the fact that kind actions are a delusion and a snare. Next door to us there lived an old dame named Mrs. Crimp. One day she came over to our house with a pair of woolen socks she had knitted for me. I suppose an equally good pair could have been bought at the trade palace for fifteen cents, and I wasn't overwhelmed with joy. My mother, who, with all her splendid qualities, was an easy mark, and inclined to find good in everything and everybody, was enthusiastic over Mrs. Crimp's generosity."

"But even in my infant years I was gifted with the wisdom of the serpent, and I felt from the first that there was some malevolent scheme in the background."

"The scheme was soon developed. Mrs. Crimp had many chores to do, and she hated to do them herself. There was wood to be carried into the house, and the cow to be taken care of, and a hundred other unprofitable tasks. Every time I'd meet her she'd say, 'Well, my sweet little boy, with your golden ringlets and sunny smile, how do you like the socks I made you? If you only knew how I worked, so you would have the best socks in town! And that reminds me of a little errand I wish you would do for me. Go to Mr. Jinks, who lives seven miles north, and ask him to let you have his saw, so you can cut some kindling for me tomorrow!'

"First and last, Mrs. Jiggers, I put in $1,000 worth of manual labor for that woman and my youth was poisoned, and my manhood embittered by it. I might have forgiven everything had the socks been good ones, but they were atrocious. The heels always worked around to my insteps and the tops worked down over my shoes."

"It has been that way all my life. When a man insists upon doing me a kindness I look upon him with suspicion. When I was laid up in my room with a broken leg two or three years ago, I had an excellent time. The leg hurt only at intervals, and I had plenty of novels to read, and nothing to worry over, and I would have enjoyed myself splendidly but for tiresome philanthropists who were determined to sit by my bedside and cheer me up. I didn't need any cheering up, and I tried to convince them that their visits had the opposite effect, but they wouldn't take a hint. They sat by my couch of suffering and told idiotic stories, and bored me almost to death."

"Jim Higginbottom was an especial nuisance. That man simply wouldn't go away as long as there was an excuse for staying. He said his conscience wouldn't allow him to forsake the bedside of a suffering friend. At that time I carried some accident insurance, and when my check came Jim borrowed half of it, and after he got the money he never worried over my leg any more. And he never returned any of the money. I don't blame him for that, for I make it a rule never to return borrowed money, but I can't easily forgive him for boring me so many hours, when I wanted to be reading."

Obeyed Orders.
"How is it I have such big telephone bills?"

"You told me, sir, to use dispatch in that correspondence, so I wired all the letters."

FAMOUS SINGER DOESN'T PRETEND

Young American Tenor To Give Concert in Normal Auditorium.

Lindquest, famous American tenor, comes to Ada Thursday, February 8, for a concert in the Normal auditorium.

An enthusiast heard Albert Lindquest sing at Cleveland, Ohio, last March. Impulsively he rushed up to the stage following Mr. Lindquest's final number and said: "Say, old man, you're some singer and a real guy." The remark pleased the distinguished young American tenor more than any of the hundreds of compliments which were bestowed upon him that evening where he had appeared in special recital in the banquet room of the Statler hotel.

Lindquest is a plain, ordinary young American. There is no sham, no pose, no pretense about his singing. He sings as if it were real enjoyment to him to be pleasing his audience, and no this particular night he pleased his audience to such an extent that they would not let him go.

In addition to the glorious tenor voice of Mr. Lindquest, which won the Chicago Operatic Company called "a voice of gold," several years ago, Mr. Lindquest has a most charming manner in the presentation of his songs. He is a finished artist all through, not only in the tone production work, phrasing, breathing and pronunciation, but in his every action before his audience. He sang his famous "Tommie Lad" at the Statler that evening in a way that made his audience weep. He sang old dialect songs and operatic arias, and at the conclusion of every number his audience was carried away with enthusiasm. He combines all the gifts of the ideal lyric tenor with the force and power of the dramatic tenor. The combination is one seldom possessed by any artist.

Newspapers the country over have been lavish in their praise of Lindquest. Three New York papers, two Chicago dailies and Leslie's Magazine have in the past two years proclaimed him one of the real artists in the world of music. In his present tour with the affiliated theaters, Mr. Lindquest with his assisting artists, is making a wonderful name for himself. Leonora Allen and Robert MacDonald, lyric soprano and pianist respectively, are fitting companion artists to the young American tenor.

Negroes Appeal Gambling Cases. Nine negroes arrested by the city police in a raid on the barber shop of "Goldie" Price on North Broadway, Saturday night, were tried before Mayor Kitchens Wednesday afternoon on gambling charges and were fined $14.75 each. The cases were appealed to the county court.

According to the officers who made the arrests two of the men were sitting at a table in the room with money before them, and one of them was in the act of dealing the cards when they entered. Six of the other men were taken as "sweaters" and Price was charged with running and operating a gambling place.

Each of the negroes took the stand and insisted that they were not gambling at all but just talking at a barbershop.

NORMAL NOTES

Homer Bishop, a former student of the Normal but now practicing law in Seminole, was visiting friends here Saturday.

Lois Slover, who is now teaching at Coalgate, was a Normal visitor Saturday.

Miss Velma Elliot, teacher in the Steedman school, was here Saturday finishing some work which she is doing this year.

Mrs. Gladys Crawford Coffey, who has been unable to attend school on account of illness for the past few days, returned to her studies Wednesday.

A special chapel was held Monday for the purpose of giving the students an opportunity of hearing the message of the Near East Relief Fund. Rev. C. C. Morris, Bob Wimbish and Rev. W. M. Wilson were visitors at this meeting and all addressed the student body. The main talk was made by Rev. Wilson, who is here in the interest of the work.

Miss Stella Brumley, a former student of the Normal, was here Saturday visiting friends.

The rehearsals for the Home Economics play are now in progress and the work is being prepared in an excellent manner. The characters for the play have been well chosen and it is expected by those in charge that it will be one of the most entertaining school affairs for the term.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually setting in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

The Debate.

The preliminary for the annual triangular debate will be held about the middle of this month in the Normal auditorium. As there is so many contestants it will take several trials to get the best for the team. The 12 contestants have been divided into four teams of three each and the judges for the affair will be selected from the faculty.

The subject this year is: Resolved that an open shop policy is better than a closed shop policy. Following is the teams which will compete:

Affirmative.

Team 1—Raymond Caskey, W. K. Newcomb, Jesse Hodges.

Team 2—Elizabeth Smith, Inez Bement, Blanche McMinn.

Negative.

Team 3—Joan Zimmerman, Marvin Cassidy, Dewey Hodges.

Team 4—Lester Medlock, Ed Brents, William Riddle.
